COMMUNITY PAYS LAST RESPECTS TO

ROBERT TYLER

CAME TO CHAMPION IN 1905.
ONE OF THE DISTRICTS EARLY COMMUNITY BUILDERS.

A prominent business man and long time resident of this district passed away on Saturday morning, March 5th, in the person of Robert Tyler. Deceased had been ailing for the past ten years and practically confined to his bed for the last year and despite all medical aid and loving hands could do for him he passed away Saturday.

He was born in Westminster, London, England in 1869, and was consequently in his 69th year. In 1890 he married Miss Ada Saddler of South Nutfield, Surrey, England. In 1903 he came to Canada, residing at Nelson, B. C. where he was employed by the C. P. R. In 1905 he moved to Champion, homesteading east of town. With the exception of a few years spent in England, where he made an effort to improve his health, Mr. Tyler was seldom away from Champion, making Alberta better than any other place. While of a decidedly quiet disposition he still made many friends all of whom he retained. He was the John Deere agent in Champion from 1925 to 1932 and during that time acted as mayor of the village for one term. His removal will be the cause of widespread and lasting regret.

He is survived by his widow, his brother, Mr. England and three sisters also in England.

Funeral service was held in the Community hall on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30. Rev. Canon Winter of the Anglican church, Vulcan, officiating.

Interment was made in the local cemetery, with the Snodgrass Funeral home of Vulcan in charge of arrangements. There was a large turnout of old time friends and beautiful tributes of flowers testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held by many friends.

The pall-bearers were: A. McCullough, J. Brown, W. M. Diermet, A. Kramer, H. E. Gil and Harold Matlock.

Owing to the exigencies of the Sino-Japanese war, exports of flour and wheat from Canada to China have been suspended. In 1936 Canada shipped 7,000 barrels of wheat flour and 117,000 barrels of wheat to China. The amount exported in 1937 was 40,145 barrels of wheat flour and no wheat.

According to some lumbermen, a piece of pulpy poplar wood is better for holding an axe head on than any metal wedge.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE HAVE SPLENDID MEETING

MRS. BROWN McDONALD GIVES INSTRUCTIVE TALK ON HOW TO GROW LILIES SUCCESSFULLY

The Champion Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Alexander on Tuesday, March 8th, at 3 p.m. Twenty members and friends were present. A letter from the Constituency Convenor, Mrs. Todd, was read, reminding the members of the Constituency Handicraft Exhibit at the Convention at Barons in June. Mrs. Voisey spoke briefly again of our own handicraft project and urged those present to work on articles for both exhibits.

The matter of a Fashion Show of Period costumes was again discussed. This was left in the hands of a committee to consist of Mrs. Little, Mrs. Frazee and Mrs. McIntyre. The tentative date was fixed for Saturday, April 2nd.

Mrs. Little was appointed delegate to the District Conference to be held in Lethbridge, March 31 and April 1.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mrs. Brown McDonald gave a very interesting talk on "The Growing of Lilies in Western Canada." She explained many interesting items regarding these lovely plants, and summed up their care in four points:

(1) Lilies will not live where there is much moisture during their dormant period.

(2) A suitable soil must be provided—a sandy loam, containing not too much lime, with a porous or gravelly soil.

(3) They must be covered with straw in winter to protect them against alternate freezing and thawing.

(4) Lilies must be planted at the right depth and at the same time of year designated in the catalogue.

The ladies expressed their appreciation of Mrs. McDonald's paper and several made further enquiries.

A very tasty lunch was served by Mrs. Voisey and Mrs. Knudtson.

MASON'S AND FRIENDS HAVE ENJOYABLE
SOCIAL EVENING

Members of the Masonic Lodge acted as hosts on Monday evening when they entertained Masons and their wives and members of the Eastern Star and escorts at bridge and bingo. The honors in bridge were shared by Mrs. C. G. Taylor and Franklin Cool while the consolation prizes were won by Mrs. J. Long and H. T. Lamont.

Bingo provided real amusement and the prizes offered were not only practical but caused a good deal of mirth.

A game of horse shoe was also played and George Cres and P. Gatenby proved their ability in this line.

THATCHER AND CORONATION WHEATS

In view of the near approach of seed time it is desirable for the farmers' information to enable them to make the necessary arrangements for the growing of these wheats. The following table gives a preliminary statement with regard to the results of the experimental shipments of commercial grain of the Thatcher and Coronation varieties of wheat to the United Kingdom, should be made.

Information received from abroad indicates that the growing of Thatcher wheat as No. One Manitoba Northern has been confined provided it otherwise qualifies, in other words, Thatcher wheat is not considered to be equal to Manitoba in milling quality.

In regard to Coronation wheat the situation, however, is not so clear and while a final pronouncement in this connection will not be made until after the return of Dr. Geddes from overseas and the meeting of the Associate Committee on Grain Research, which takes place in the first week of April, preliminary indications are that Coronation wheat will probably not be graded and that it will be graded not higher than No. Three Manitoba Northern.

LOCALS

Mrs. Helena Tuy, who is en route home from a visit with friends in Washington, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Beingsiner. Mrs. Tuy anticipates visiting in Rosemary and Manyberries before leaving for her home in International Falls, Minn.

Large sheets of ice behind the hotel and in the park have provided skating for several youngsters this week. Bonfires provide heat and light and also provide a means to roast marshmallows.

Margarine, or other substitute for butter, is prohibited in Canada, in contrast to Germany which produced 417,000 tons of margarine in 1936. The United Kingdom with 181,000 tons, and the United States with 176,000 tons were the next largest producers of this substitute for butter in 1936.

Indications are that world supplies of wool in 1938 will be somewhat larger than in 1937, states the Agricultural Situation and Outlook.

The Cult Of The Isms

Not only in Canada, but the world over generally this is the day and age of "isms", fascism, communism and what have you, as opposed to the tried political faith symbolized in the word "democracy", the creed upon which Canada and all the other self-governing units of the British Empire, the United States, and, in Europe, the Scandinavians and other countries are founded or have adopted and have made progress to date.

For instance, here in Canada, there are a thousand "isms" or other of a multitude of these "isms", emblematic of political and economic doctrines which mark a departure from the democratic form of government, whose fundamental principle is the right of the people to say who shall govern them and how they shall be governed.

Some of these doctrines are presented in distinct form to meet local conditions and exigencies, the sugar coated in the hope that thus disguised, they will appeal to the rank and file of the people who have the final say.

The great objection to the sugar coated pill is that it's attractive and palatable covering usually hides a nauseating dose of physic which cannot easily be digested once the pill has been swallowed, or if it must subsequently be rejected it can only be done by the absorption of an emetic, perhaps more disagreeable than the original dose.

Great Forward Strides

Even after making full allowances for the set back which has resulted during the last year or two in world-wide economic and agricultural depression, it is easily demonstrable that great strides have been made in the provision of material comforts enjoyed by over-civilized cities of people, and that in no countries in the world has this access to more comforts been so universal as in the great democracies. In such countries as Great Britain, the United States and Canada, delicacies have become every day fare, and luxuries have become necessities with each passing year.

To see the truth of this assertion one has only to look around, take stock of possessions and every day comforts and compare them with what was in vogue 25 or even 15 years ago and also compare the number of people to whom many of these luxuries are attainable now, and then to compare the old picture of those likewise comparing the number of things which are no-day regarded as necessities by the rank and file of the people in the most progressive of the democratic countries with the extent to which many of these things are still luxuries to the common people in countries which have abjured the right of self-government.

Conditions Worth

It is true that during the past few years many people have suffered great hardships due to the widespread nature of the economic depression which followed the crash of 1929 and particularly is this the case in sections of this country which sustained the impact of an agricultural depression super-imposed upon the commercial and financial debacle and one's perspective is apt to be that the world is in a much better position today which promises an laboring in comparison with the conditions which existed in those halcyon days when every person expected to become rich overnight and, in fact, was wealthy in greater or less degree—on paper.

It must not be forgotten, however, that the apparent progress in that two or three which led up to the rout in the fall of 1929 was a fictitious one. It was the result of the theory that the world was in a depression founded on the false doctrine of "something for nothing". It was the practice of this theory on widespread scale which brought about the crash and any other theory which has "something for nothing" as its basic creed is equally bound to sooner or later bring a similar disaster.

Electors Should Show Interest

Those engaged in promoting some from of government other than the democratic are wont to insist—self-government on the ground that it is frequently inefficient and lends itself too easily to racketeering and corruption. If that is the case, are not the people themselves to blame? If so, then certainly those who are elected should take a keen interest in their own affairs, not only at election times, but the year round, that their representatives could afford to let them down?

One of the chief forms of government is that so many electors show very little interest in what their representatives are doing except just around election time, and even then there is a substantial percentage which fails to vote and this applies in all—provincial, municipal and federal.

The Ideal Objective

Democratic government should be and can be efficient; it should be and can be free of racketeering or corruption, on large scale or small, but it can only be so if the people are sufficiently enlightened and sufficiently interested to make it so and those objectives can only be achieved by the rank and file of the electorate devoting the necessary time to the study of the affairs of the state, the country, the province and the municipality, not only occasionally but daily in and out. If that viewpoint is adopted by all the electors and problems are approached with that attitude, then the ideal objective is as a certainty that the individual or the group, self-government can be achieved to the highest degree, and there will be no thought of exchanging it for any system which may mean the bartering of liberty for a mess of potage.

FLIN FLON

"The Story of Its Finding and Position To-day"

By PRATT KUHN

Here's A Fish Story!

Talking of sturgeon, I saw a 150-pounder and many weighing 40 to 60 pounds, with heads on, with heads and tails off. Just below the Falls at Flin Flon I saw a 100-pounder. Begged by miners, most of them, with a 30-foot line baited with a six-ounce hook and line, each time. Up there they find this fish.

In the story Island Falls is a quick survey I saw Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, Dr. G. H. Ipswich, Tooth Paste, Hind's Honey and Almond Cream sticking out in a full bag.

Familiar, too, was Ovaltine, Postum, Oxo, Brasso, Silvo, Kew's Mustum, Oxo, Ovaltine, Cinnamon Spices, Melrose Orange Peicey Tiny Tea Tops, Soap, Edwards' Silver Soap, Dr. G. H. Ipswich, Palm Olive Soap, Gillette's Lye, Chore Girl carpet sponges. All tobacco products, including Camel, Chesterfield, Winchester, Sweet Caparols, Women's Super Silo, Hosiery, Men's Viyella.

One of the outstanding features of Island Falls (the town is one mile from the power plant) is the Community Hall built by the miners. It is so large that it has an indoor basketball court, a large lower floor and well heated for winter by electricity. There are perhaps only 100 houses in the town of Flin Flon, but they have a hall.

It also has a Hawker-Balkie bowing alley, a talkie movie theatre and a radio station. The weekly news films are shown twice weekly free, secured on a rental basis, from the Canadian News Film Co. The films are heavy because I helped handle them on portages on their return from the Falls.

There is a travelling book library, also a resident one in the building, where the miners can get a good book and have a good time indoors all winter long in the big hall.

On the north side of the sidewalk where the miners live, the sidewalks were laid down and as there is no transportation except by shark's teeth sleds, the miners have been grading for gardens and flowers which thrive marvelously.

There are only two wood stoves for cooking in the town—those being electrically equipped.

Pensioner Who Had Three Days Service In Army Draws $35,000

Hon. G.C. Power, pension minister, told the House of Commons a pension of $35,000 that cost the country $35,000.

The man had three days service in the Canadian army after being dismissed from the American army because of tuberculosis.

From 1917 until his death a comparatively short time ago, the man received pay and allowances which totalled $35,000.

"I complained the minister 'we did not have a single day in all those years when we did not receive complete pay and allowances.'

The man not only complained himself, but he enlisted the assistance of ex-soldier organizations.

Help Buffalo Inventor To Keep With Spanish Flu

When the automobile of Francesco La Faice, Buffalo inventor, exceeds a speed of 50 miles an hour, a buzzer warns him. He says it helps him to obey the laws. The device, attached to his car, is a small lamp which lights on the front and rear of his car when it attains any speed set as a maximum. This, it was assumed, would notify traffic police that the driver was speeding.

"I'll never be the same, m'lud," said Crump.

"Nonsense. What happened to you?"

"Elaine, m'lud, she came back."

"Come back?"

"Yes, m'lud. I left her dead, as dead as Napoleon. I closed her eyes. Then she vanished. I thought Shout had taken her away, to joke with her. But she didn't. A few minutes ago I went into my room to get a kerchief, and there she was! Her eyes were open and she was wagging her tail!"

"But they don't know," said the Earl. "They don't know I'm here."

"You'll excuse me for asking, Crump," said the Earl, "but were you just a tiny thought stupefied?"

"You know that I am never in the least inebriated, except, perhaps, at Christmas," said Crump.

"That's so," said the Earl. "But you must have got a drink. Let's investigate."

An expeditionary force, headed by the Earl, with Lady Ross and Ernest close behind him, and Crump and Shout following, found the Earl in a semi-conscious, passed out in Crump's room, which was just off his pantry.

"You're right," said Crump. "Her eyes are open and she is wagging her tail."

He stopped a dozen feet from where the dog lay in his basket-bed by the fireplace.

"Nice! Elsie! Good doggy," he said. She continued to gaze at them fixedly, while wagging her tail.

"Well," said the Earl, "I wasn't afraid to be seen with her. I wasn't afraid to be seen with her."

"Nor am I," said Crump.

"I'm not so afraid of her as I used to be," said the Earl. "She's been stupefied."

"B-b-b stupefied dogs do not wag their tails," said Crump, in the doorway, poised for battle.

"This one does," said the Earl. He bent close, so that he could hear a tick-tick-tick.

"Clock-work," he said.

"By Jove, how clever! You'd hardly believe it from the old Elsie, would you? Crump?"

The butler came forward and knelt beside Elaine. He stroked her hand with which he trembled a little. Elaine gave a short, sharp bark. Crump crept up behind the seat on his baleen trousers.

"Crump?"

"Yes, m'lud."

"Pull yourself together. The creatures can't hear you."

"I'll do my best," said Crump.

"I know her," said the Earl. "She's not a ghost. Crump. At least she's not a ghost. Crump. At least she doesn't feel like a ghost."

"That's all I want to know," said Ernest. "I studied Elaine myself. I found a very up-to-date taxidermist in Bradford who'd let me do it in his shop. I wanted to surprise Crump."

"You did not," said the Earl.

"I did not," said Ernest. "It was very stupid of me."

"It was very kind of you, sir," said Crump. "Now Elaine will continue to be a great comfort to me."

He approached the dog and stroked her back, said Crump.

"How does one make her bark, sir?" he inquired.

"Touch her between the shoulder blades, like a prat. She'll wag her tail for twelve minutes if you wind her up."

"She's wonderful, sir, simply wonderful," said Crump. His face was wreathed in beams now. "I'm most grateful to you, sir."

"And I say the earl," said Ernest. "I am sure that she'll make a perfect servant. She'll wash our dinner before somebody else begins to wag her tail."

They returned to the dining room.

In the kitchen Crump was pouring the after-dinner coffee into Spode cups.

"As I remarked, my dear Sylvia, I am considered an excellent judge of men," he said. "A good master must be. And I say this—" he wagged a finger at her to drive home his point. "Mr. Blingey would be a most excellent master. He'd be a tramp, but millionaire or tramp, an American or Eskimo, in the heat sense of the word he's a gentleman. And now will you excuse me whilst I go to my room and wind up Elaine?"

CHAPTER VII.

After dinner they had a musical evening. Lady Ross, at Ernest's request, sang "Come to the Fair," "Dinner My Love" with the piano eyes, and "Love, Oh! Guest Song." The earl, at nobody's request, attacked, with a ready voice, "Uncle Tom Cobley and All," though handicapped by the fact that he was sure of neither the words nor the tune. Ernest, by popular demand, rendered "Listen to the Mocking Bird" (with variations) on his harmonica.

"Listen to the most dandified chap you are, Ernest," remarked the earl. "You're not only musical but you strut a superb pup!"

"Thank you, m'lud," said Ernest.

"I was an extremely thoughtful earl to be," said Lady Ross.

"Notter! Father nor I thought of doing it, and we knew, far better than you could, how much Elaine would like to Crump."

"She was not very much m'lud," murmured Ernest.

"Nothing at all," said Ernest.

"Thank you, m'lud," said Ernest.

"You'll excuse me for asking, Crump," said the Earl, "but were you just a tiny thought stupefied?"

"You know that I am never in the least inebriated, except, perhaps, at Christmas," said Crump.

"That's so," said the Earl.

"I'm not so afraid of her as I used to be," said the Earl. "She's been stupefied."

"I'm not your master," said Ernest.
